

Abstract

The present invention is directed to a device with a power tool case (10) – that includes at least one receiving area (12) for a power tool (16) – and a charger (14).

It is provided that the charger (14) and the power tool case (10) are designed to remain connected during a charging procedure.

(Figure 3)